

What are the LanguageCert International ESOL benefits for learners?

Flexibility of Exams: you can prepare and then sit for only the Written or only the Spoken Exam and it will be easier for you to achieve the full exam bit by bit; you can direct your learning activities towards particular skills areas (listening, reading, writing and speaking).

Separate certificates: if you sit for both the Written and the Spoken Exam but only succeed in one, you will receive a certificate for the exam you have passed. When you have passed both exams of the same level, you will receive two separate certificates - for the Written and the Spoken Exam respectively - for the level achieved.

On demand: you can take the exams on dates agreed on with your school (LanguageCert Approved Test Centre) and at any time of the year*.

Different conditions apply in specific regions, please check with your school.*

Internationally recognised Awarding Body: you will improve your chances for academic development and have access to better employment opportunities.

Exams functional language use: you will be able to use English successfully for both making friends across borders and working internationally.

Mapped to the CEFR: you will receive an objective feedback on your language knowledge measured by internationally accepted standards.

One-to-one Spoken Exam: only you and a LanguageCert Interlocutor will be participating in your Spoken Exam, as there will not be another candidate. This way you can focus and perform to the best of your ability.

Fairness and impartiality – Written Exam: after papers are marked, our Chief Examiner checks the marking to ensure there are no discrepancies in the way papers are marked.

Fairness and impartiality – Spoken Exam: marking is not done by the Interlocutor during the exam. Instead, your exam is recorded and the recorded interview is marked by an independent LanguageCert Marker after the exam. This way the Interlocutor can fully concentrate on the exam and help you perform to the best of your ability. The recording comes handy if for any reason your Spoken Exam performance needs to be verified.

Reasonable exam length: you do not have to spend a whole day taking the exam; the Written and Spoken Exams will require only about 3 hours of your time.

Indefinite exam validity: the certificate has life-long validity.

Language Cert

Communicative exam: you will need to be able to use English, focusing primarily on communicative skills rather than vocabulary range or grammar; thereby you can take a LanguageCert International ESOL Exam even if you have been preparing for another exam.
